“Starwood Hotels made the Facilities Management Administrator (FMA®) Designation a job requirement for all Directors of Engineering. The education that I received from BOMI International taught me not just the technical basics of overseeing and managing a facility, but also a real in-depth understanding to how a building and the systems within it functions, breaths, and benefits the occupants. Additionally, the FMA Program was selected by Starwood’s Engineering Council as the best available program for developing engineering management competencies.”
